BOTTLES & BEDTIME

Sugary liquids rot your sleeping baby's teeth. Here are some ideas for how you can protect your baby's teeth at bedtime.

Hold your baby while bottle feeding.

Wipe the teeth or gums when finished.

Put your baby to sleep by rocking, cuddling, or singing.

Put your baby to sleep without a bottle or sippy cup.

BREASTFEEDING AND HEALTHY TEETH

- Breastfeeding and breast milk are the best choices for baby
 - When possible, feed your baby only breast milk for the first 6 months
- Before other foods are added, breast milk alone does not cause cavities

- Start other healthy foods at 6 months and continue to breastfeed for 12 months or as long as the mother and child wish
 - Once other foods including formula are started, teeth can get cavities quickly
- Limit how often sweet foods are given.

- Start good habits early by cleaning your baby's mouth to keep it healthy
 - Wipe your baby's gums with a clean cloth after morning and evening feedings
 - When teeth first come in, brush them in the morning and before bed with a small soft toothbrush and a tiny smear of toothpaste containing fluoride

Fluoride helps strengthen your child's teeth even before the first tooth comes in. Fluoride is safe for children and it prevents cavities. Here are ways you can protect your child's teeth with fluoride:

Give Your Child Water with Fluoride

- Use water out of the tap: it is an easy and cheap way to protect teeth! Most bottled water does not have fluoride.
- Find out if your water has the right amount of fluoride, (saavs.us/fluoride)
- Add water with fluoride to powdered infant formula if you are bottle-feeding your baby. Water with fluoride is safe for babies.

Brush with Fluoride Toothpaste

- Beginning when the first tooth comes in, brush your child's teeth in the morning and before bed using fluoride toothpaste.
- Use the right amount of toothpaste:
- A tiny rice-sized smear for under age 3
- A small pea-size for over age 3

Get Professional Fluoride Applications

- A medical or dental provider can paint fluoride. varnish on your child's teeth to prevent cavities.
- Fluoride varnish can be applied 2-6 times per year starting when the first tooth comes in.

UN CHEQUEO

A dental check-up is as important as seeing your doctor. Germs that cause cavities in your mouth can pass to your baby.

Are your gums tender or do they bleed when you brush? Pregnancy can increase the way your gums react to germs in the mouth. Brush along the gumline and floss daily.

■ Do any of your teeth feel loose? Loose teeth can be caused by gum disease and should be treated by a dentist or dental hygienist.

■ Do you have morning sickness?

■ Do you feel pain in your mouth when you eat or drink? Pain can be a sign of problems in your mouth.

It is safe to have your teeth treated when you are pregnant
