Division of Responsibility

- Preschoolers are responsible for:
 - How Much - How much, if any, to take
 - What - Choosing, of the foods offered, what they would like to eat
- Parents and Caregivers are responsible for:
 - What is Offered - Offering healthy foods
 - When Offered - Providing regularly scheduled meals and snack times
 - Where Offered - Offering a pleasant, calm and safe meal setting

Good Choices

- Let your preschooler's appetite be the guide for how much to offer
- After 2 years of age, preschoolers can drink the same milk as the family (preferably fat free/low-fat milk)
- Serve milk and juice with meals. Satisfy thirst at other times with water
- NOT Recommended are caffeine-containing drinks (ice tea, sodas, coffee)
- NOT Recommended are sugary or sweetened drinks (sodas, Gatorade, Powerade, Vitamin Water, Hi-C juices, Capri Sun, etc.)

Tips & Tricks

- Let your preschooler help with meals
 - Washing fruits and vegetables
 - Stirring and mixing
 - Setting, clearing and wiping the table
- Offer your preschooler foods that are colorful and have interesting shapes
- Offer new foods in a "matter of fact" way and at the start of a meal when your preschooler is most hungry
- Preschoolers tend to go through "food jags" - picking a favorite food and wanting to eat it all the time. It's okay if the food is healthy and soon they will be on to new foods.

Picky Eaters

Is a picky eater born or made?

- Some preschoolers are very sensitive to taste, texture and smell. Which means they can enjoy a food a lot or gag when eating it.
- Parents who are fussy about their own foods will often pass this on to their preschoolers.
- Parents who pressure their children to eat can turn their preschoolers away from certain foods

What to do about it?

- Let your preschooler pick from the foods available at meal time
- DO NOT limit the menu to only food your preschooler will eat
- DO NOT withhold dessert or bribe to force him/her to eat
- Let your preschooler eat as much or little at meal and snack time and remind them no food will be offered until the next meal or snack time
- Many times preschoolers eat poorly because they drink their food rather than eat it.
- TRUST your preschooler to eat. Toddlers have the built-in-ability to eat and will eventually come up with a balanced diet.
- Teach your preschooler polite manners when refusing a food or asking for more.
- Remember children fight back when they feel pressured to eat.
